Lessons: I Sam 14: 36-45, Mark 1:14-20

The prayers for several needs and for several sorts of people which we offer at the Holy Communion are not to be thought of as preliminary to the sacrifice. We do not first pray for our fellow men as though that were one thing, and then consecrate the body of Christ as though that were another thing. The prayers come right into the sacrament; for the sacrament is the Son of God dying for us, and when he dies, he has all mankind in his heart. The intercessions we make are just so many attempts on our part to share the intentions of Christ's heart, and so to be at one with him in his sacrifice. If we bear this truth in mind, we shall desire to come often to the altar. For we shall wish often to put our intercessions into the riven heart of Christ, as a child might put a written request into the cracked image of a saint. Only that it is not our writing we put there, but our praying mind, to be surrounded, inspired and appropriated by the prayer of Christ.— Austin Farrer

Given the renovations and the temporary arrangements, it is difficult for some to kneel. The preferred alternative is for you to stand, but if you need to, please feel free to sit.

Those who wish to receive Holy Communion kneeling may do so by using the high altar communion rail, the sacrament will be brought to you after the communion of the rest of the people.
